Revise Plans to Liberalize Social Security

Democrats Change Proposals to Hold Down Cost

By United Press

House Democrats have tentatively revised two of their three proposals for liberalizing the social security law in an apparent effort to hold down the cost, informants said today.

The Republican spokesman on social security matters, Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby, had estimated the original Democratic plan would cost more than 2-billion dollars annually over the years.

Some members of the House Ways & Means committee said the tentative cost-reducing decision may clear the way for consideration of other proposed changes in the social security law.

Democrats originally proposed letting all eligible women start drawing social security benefits at 60 instead of 65 and paying benefits to all permanently disabled workers regardless of age.

But informants said that under the tentative changes benefits would go to age 60 only to women who are widowed after they reached 55. Single women, married women and women who were widowed before reaching 55 would still have to wait until they are 65 to draw benefits under the revisions.

Under the other change, totally and permanently disabled workers would be eligible for immediate benefits only if they were disabled at age 50 or older.

Committee members indicated they had made no substantial change in a third Democratic proposal to extend social security benefits to mentally or physically incapacitated children of deceased workers beyond the present cut-off age of 18.

Other congressional news: Benefits: Members of Congress are quietly negotiating for improved "fringe benefits" to go with their recent $7,500 annual raise. The proposals, already approved by House leaders, would provide additional paid trips home, an extra clerk, a double telephone allowance, an increase long distance telephone allowance and an extra stationery allowance.

Knowland: Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, "more in sorrow than in anger," told reporters Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has shifted from being a neutral to "almost a broker in Soviet policy." Knowland has been particularly critical of Nehru's recent joint declaration with Russia that Red China should be admitted to the United Nations.

Dixon-Yates: Rep. Joe L. Evans (D-Tenn.) said now that the city of Memphis, Tenn., is building its own steam generating plant there is no need at all for the controversial Dixon-Yates power project. He called on President Eisenhower to state his views anew on the subject since, he said, the President once suggested that Memphis build its own power plant.

Service men's Benefits: A special House committee has agreed informally on legislation to bring all servicemen under the social security system on the same basis as civilians. The bill would increase government compensation payments to servicemen's survivors and would abolish the $10,000 fire insurance now granted servicemen.

Miners Receive Vacation Pay; Mines Idle Until July 5

It's vacation time for the miners and all union mines throughout the nation will be idle through July 4.

Mines operated by both the U. M. W. of A. and P. M. W. of A. unions in this area have announced there will be no production until July 5.

Miners received their vacation pay Friday and many have already left Saline county for vacation spots.

House Passes Revenue Reform Amendment for Vote in 1956

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois House Friday voted for an amendment of the state constitution's tax article, putting the proposition on the November, 1956, ballot.

The House passed the revenue reform amendment resolution by a 119-19 vote, 17 more votes than the two-thirds majority needed to submit the plan to the people.

The Senate had passed the resolution last Tuesday.

Leaders of both parties called for passage of the revenue article as a basic solution to state and local tax and revenue problems.

The amendment as proposed will remove the constitutional ban against classifying property for taxation, will allow most other kinds of direct taxes as determined by the Legislature, but will prohibit any graduated income tax.

Under the present constitution, all types of property must be taxed at the same rate. Thus, many types of property, including such "intangible" property as stocks, bonds and cash, is not taxed because to tax everything at as high a rate as real estate would not be fair.

The present constitution also limits other types of taxation to taxes on privileges. So most taxes are levied in such a way as to appear as levies on privileges, such as the so-called sales tax, levied on the "privilege" of doing business as a retailer, not as a direct sales tax.

Opens Direct Taxation

The amendment would permit the Legislature to impose taxes directly on certain operations and avoid the cumbersome subterfuges.

Under the Gateway amendment, three constitutional changes can be offered to the people every two years. The other major change considered for submission at the 1956 election was court revision, beaten by the House Thursday.

A second amendment offered will probably be a new constitutional article to ban use of motor vehicle taxes for non-highway uses. This was passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate.

Girl Triplets Born After Airliner Wins Race with Stork

GANDER, N.D. (AP)—Girl triplets were born Friday night and early today to Mrs. Ruth Keith of Windom, Minn., a few hours after a Scandinavian Airlines plane raced the stork to Gander.

The last of the triplets arrived shortly after midnight at the Banting Memorial Hospital. Dr. J. G. Paton said all three and the young mother were doing fine. Each of the girls weighed slightly more than three pounds.

Mrs. Keith told crewmen of the SAS plane about four hours after it left Prestwick, Scotland, early Friday that she was having labor pains. Pilot Capt. Gordon (Bill) Whitfield radioed for advice and a doctor in Prestwick prescribed sedatives.

On arrival at Gander, Mrs. Keith was taken to the hospital but doctors first said she would not have the triplets for several days. She was to have left Sunday for her Minnesota home with her other two children, a 3-year-old girl and a year-old boy. Her husband was to have met her in Minneapolis on her return from a visit to Oslo, Norway.

Future of Scouting Bright, Eisenhower Says in Message

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — President Eisenhower told the Boy Scouts of America today that the dedication of its new national headquarters near here signifies "a bright future for scouting."

Mr. Eisenhower, in a message sent to Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive, said the dedication "reflects the growth which has taken place in the scouting movement during recent years."

He said he is "looking ahead to a bright future for scouting and to its continued effectiveness in helping mold the character of young Americans."

Predict 25 Highway Deaths in Illinois Over July 4 Weekend

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents will claim the lives of 25 persons on Illinois highways during the July 4th holiday weekend, according to the Chicago Motor Club.

The club predicted that 13 of the deaths would occur in Cook County, six in Chicago itself.

It also predicted that some 700 persons would be injured in 940 accidents over the weekend.

Economic loss resulting from property damage and medical bills will total $2,750,000, the club estimated.

The original plan called for a 120-foot high dam, stretching 670 feet across a part of the Crab Orchard Creek drainage basin. Some work has been completed on three of the dam's six piers.

The cost estimate in 1936 was $1,250,000. But now a cost of $2,500,000 is predicted before the dam begins storing water.

When completed, Devil's Kitchen Lake will be a supplementary water supply along with Little Grass Lake or Crab Orchard Lake. Four communities — Carbondale, Carterville, Herrin and Marion — have pipelines to Crab Orchard Lake and relied on it for part of their water supplies during the recent drought in southern Illinois.

The big lake — Crab Orchard — also furnishes two million gallons of water daily to industrial firms in the former Illinois Ordnance Plant area west of here.

The Crab Orchard area was transferred to the Department of the Interior in 1947. Part of it is now used as a wildlife refuge, and part is open to hunters and fishermen.

Area Celebrates Revival of Lake Project

Ceremonies Held At Site of Devil's Kitchen Dam

MARION, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois citizens today celebrated the revival of an artificial lake project that was born in the depression days of 1936.

Ceremonies at the site of Devil's Kitchen Dam heralded the planned resumption of work on the dam that will back up a lake of about 800 acres.

Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, Democrat from West Frankfort, representing Illinois' 25th District, arranged the program which presented Robert Burwell, regional director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Burwell has charge of the area in which the lake will be created.

The Devil's Kitchen Dam was to be part of a Works Project Administration plan to build three dams west and south of here to provide work relief, recreation facilities, migratory waterfowl refuges, and water, soil and forest conservation.

Two of the lakes—Crab Orchard and Little Grass—were completed, but work was halted on Devil's Kitchen Dam in 1940.

One million dollars to resume work is contained in the Interior Department appropriation bill for fiscal 1956.

Supplementary Lake

The original plan called for a 120-foot high dam, stretching 670 feet across a part of the Crab Orchard Creek drainage basin. Some work has been completed on three of the dam's six piers.

The cost estimate in 1936 was $1,250,000. But now a cost of $2,500,000 is predicted before the dam begins storing water.

Rev. John Holladay, Presbyterian Moderator, Killed

The Rev. John S. Holladay, Cairo, moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Illinois, was killed instantly Friday morning at 10:45 in an automobile accident near Van Buren, Mo.

Rev. Holladay had been to Wentworth, Mo., to take Mrs. Holladay to the home of her mother and was returning to Cairo. It was reported his car skidded from the road, and in attempting to right it, he pulled into the path of another car, resulting in a head-on collision.

The body is at the Berling funeral home in Cairo. Funeral arrangements had not been announced this morning. A son is in service in Alaska, and his ability to return might have some bearing on the funeral date.

Illinois House Passes 10 Amendments to Overhaul State's Turnpike Law

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois House Friday failed by a single vote to pass a bill to repeal the 1953 Toll Road Act and then passed 10 bills to drastically overhaul the turnpike law.

The House handed the administration a stern rebuke for its handling of the 400 million dollar turnpike program as it voted 76-65 for repeal of the act and junking of the whole program.

Five Republicans joined 71 Democrats for repeal. Sixty-five Republicans cast the votes against repeal.

While the House vote was a blow to the administration, there was little danger the bill even if passed would have gone past the heavily Republican Senate.

Rep. Arthur W. Sprague (R-La Grange) charged the administration hedged on amendments to the Toll Road Act offered by the Republican majority of the special investigating body.

"There have been no bills introduced to carry out most of the committee's recommendations and no changes of personnel have been indicated," Sprague said. "We are all agreed that public confidence in the toll road program has been sadly impaired by the conduct of commission personnel in certain instances. That situation should have been immediately repaired."

This was interpreted as a demand that Gov. William G. Stratton fire Toll Road Commission Chairman Evan Howell, whose actions drew the strongest criticism from both political factions of the investigating committee.

Amendments Go Easier

But after the repeal bill was defeated the House administration leaders were more friendly to the toll road act amending bills offered.

Baird won approval by a one-vote margin of what he called "the most important bill of all," a provision for administrative review through the courts of toll road commission decisions and activities.

Administrative review of toll road actions was specifically banned in the 1953 act and members of the toll road commission testified during the hearings it would tie up the program in court and no turnpikes would ever be built.

Baird also beat a Republican majority committee bill to permit the toll road commission to include more than one toll road in a single bond issue. The bill got only 68 of a required 77 votes.

The 1953 law required that each toll road be financed as a separate project. But Baird said the toll road commission had violated the law by wrapping three turnpikes

Await Reply From Molotov on Plane Incident

Officials Refuse To Speculate On Big Four Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials and congressmen said today that Russia's attack on an American plane off Alaska raises a grave question about the sincerity of the Soviets' recent peace gestures.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), influential member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said if the attack was deliberately planned by the Russian government "we should seriously consider" calling off the coming Big Four talks.

But, Mansfield said, if "some hot-rod Russian" was responsible for the attack and it was not ordered by the Soviet government, then those responsible should be punished.

Diplomatic sources refused to speculate on what effect the plane incident might have on the forthcoming Big Four conference.

But they said the tipoff may come in the kind of reply the Russians make to a protest Secretary of State John Foster Dulles delivered in a face-to-face meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov at the United Nations meeting in San Francisco Friday.

Officials said if the Soviets' reply is made in conciliatory terms instead of with the usual bitter countercharge placing the blame on the United States, the incident may have little effect at all on the Big Four meeting.

Dulles To Investigate

Molotov told Dulles he would make an investigation — presumably by sending a message to the Kremlin asking for Russia's side of the story — and then report back to the Secretary of State. President Eisenhower, touring New Hampshire and Maine today, awaited a report from Dulles.

The plane, a U. S. Navy patrol bomber, was attacked by two Russian MIG fighters off Alaska Wednesday. Despite a flaming engine, it reached American-owned St. Lawrence Island, some 40 miles away from Russian territory and crash-landed. Seven of the 11 crew members were injured. Three of them had been hit by Russian shell fragments.

The lumbering American plane, whose top speed is about 300 miles an hour, did not return fire. The MIG fighters off Alaska fled immediately after the attack.

The Defense Department said the attack occurred "well over international water" and was "unprovoked." The White House called the attack "inexplicable and unwarranted."

It came at a time when the Russians were emphasizing their peace campaign at the U. N. 10th anniversary.

Visitors This Week

A group of farmers from Massac county made their annual visit to the Station Monday. Although the grass was a little wet underfoot, these sturdy pioneers braved the weather and the day was called successful.

Also, from up central Illinois way, Ed Garlich, Morgan county farm adviser, visited us with a group of his farmers from around Jacksonville. These men seemed impressed by the amount of good vegetation that could be produced with a good fertility program.

Coastal Follis, 4-H Club leader from Jonesboro, spent a morning with his club members looking over the Station. Lee Gard showed them around. Many mothers and a few fathers came too. At noon the group enjoyed a picnic lunch at Lake Glendale.

new ideas on getting information the extension summer session. I'm sure he will return to us full of new ideas. We planned not to tell you about Bob's being gone. But since you've probably already no-in the past two weeks, we thought we had better explain that the old

Grass Silage-Making Rolls Along

Hay-making has been impossible this week because of too much rain, but grass silage-making continues full speed ahead. It has been necessary to wilt the alfalfa-timothy mixture for about three hours to get the moisture down to about 65 to 70 percent. A Ladino-red clover-fescue mixture is being put into the trench stack silo near the administration building. Wilting is also required before this mixture is chopped.

New Trench Silo at Sheep Barn

Dee Robinson and his dozer spent about 15 hours this week digging a trench silo at the sheep barn. The new silo is 100 feet long, 16 feet wide at the top, 9 feet wide at the bottom and an average of 7 feet deep. It will hold from 120 to 150 tons of silage. Three loads of gravel were put in the bottom to keep out the mud next winter. The silo was dug to store some Ladino-red clover-fescue to be made into silage and fed to sheep next winter.

Peeling Posts
During the rainy days some pine posts are being peeled. The posts were cut this spring from a 13-year-old plantation that is being thinned. After peeling, the posts are stacked in open stacks for air drying. They will be treated with pentachlorophenol in the summer. The posts are used on the Station for fencing.

Need More Dairying In Southern Illinois

URBANA — Southern Illinois farmers offer a good market for surplus milk.

R. W. Bartlett, milk marketing specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says markets for milk produced in the southernmost 16 counties of Illinois are there. They need only be developed.

One potential market is more sales to people living in these counties. Another is St. Louis.
Most of the area is within 100 miles of St. Louis, the most distant spot in the 16-county area being only 150 miles away.

Dairymen can help to make new markets for Grade A milk and then produce more Grade A milk as markets open up. They can increase their milk output by adding more cows to their herds and by raising the production of milk per cow.

Improved feeding and breeding practices combined with culling of low producers can raise the production level in herds. Large herds are needed to make the most economical use of modern dairying equipment.

Southern Illinois' rolling land will grow good hay and pasture crops, a major concern in dairy farming. While much of the soil in the area is low in fertility, it responds well to treatment Bartlett says.

The small farms commonly found in the area favor a livestock program like dairying.

Dairy farming is a big labor consumer. Here again southern Illinois qualifies. There has been a surplus of labor in the area for some time.

Soon to be available is a University of Illinois bulletin, written by Bartlett and Alex Reed, dairy science specialist at the University, that will give more complete information on the subject.

Basal treatment of 2, 4, 5-T completely killed unwanted sycamore trees in experiments at the Dixon

Chief advantage of hauling green chopped forage to dairy cattle is the elimination of waste feed.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

The time is opportune to re-emphasize supplemental applications of fertilizer to farm crops.

After the first cutting of alfalfa an application of phosphorus, potash, and baron will increase the yield materially for second and third cuttings this season. A good application rate is 200 to 300 pounds per acre of 0-20-20 fertilizer supplemented with 30 to 40 pounds of ordinary borax to supply the baron.
The borax may be applied separately or it may be purchased already mixed with a commercial fertilizer such as 0-9-27.

With the moisture content of the soil so favorable to maximum crop growth this spring farmers will find fine response to fertilizer applications. By adding nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, and limestone under such favorable growing conditions farmers will get maximum benefit from the material and will reduce substantially the production costs on crops.

Adding nitrogen to corn at the right stage will increase yields, but farmers should remember that there must be a balance maintained between nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash. Do not throw in a lot of nitrogen if the other two elements are not present in sufficient amounts for balanced growth.

With tractors getting almost daily use on the farm now that the busy season of the year is at hand, the operator ought to keep a sharp eye on tires. Tires will last longer if they are inflated to the correct pressure.

The agricultural engineer's advice is to invest in a tire gauge.
Estimating the pressure by sight or by kicking the tire cannot be accurate and is a poor substitute for the real instrument. Even a two-pound reduction in pressure will shorten tire life to a considerable extent.

For tractors the rear tires usually carry eight to 12 pounds pressure, depending on tire size and the weight they carry. Front tires usually are inflated to 30 pounds although 40 to 50 pounds pressure may be required on heavy tractors when using front-mounted equipment such as manure loaders or dirt scoops.

If available, always follow the manufacturer's recommendations regarding correct air pressure for tires. Having too much pressure also is harmful because it increases the risk of bruise damage in the tire.

There still may be time to plant forage sorghums for summer and fall feed. This type crop comes in handy as a substitute for corn or soybeans when acreage allotments for these have been filled, or when corn planting has been delayed greatly or the corn severely damaged. Sorghums may be planted until June 25 and produce excellent crops. Early maturing varieties, such as Ellis or Lodi Red, are best planted at the later date because they do not require such long growing seasons as Atlas, Kansas Orange, or similar slower maturing varieties.

Terracing Increases Yields in Dry Years

Terracing has increased corn yields as much as 11 to 15 bushels an acre over nonterracing during dry seasons in Illinois.

B. A. Jones, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says one of its big benefits has been saving the rain that did fall.

Jones says that terracing is the best mechanical erosion control practice you can use. Terraces shorten lengthy, erodable slopes to 100 feet or less so that runoff water doesn't have a chance to reach a harmful speed before it is caught and slowly channeled out to a sodded waterway.

Saving soil with terraces and conserving the water supply may mean that you can crop more heavily and increase your production as a result. You may even be able to add another year of corn in your rotation because of the soil-saving features of the terraces.

Terraces also help to solve drainage problems in slowly permeable soils, Jones says. And they protect flat land at the bottom of slopes from both soil and water.
They drain excess runoff into sodded waterways and keep flat land from being flooded. You may then be able to get into flat fields a week or two earlier for planting.

It's too late to build terraces this year, Jones says, but not too late to plan for them next year.
If you have not already prepared and seeded waterway outlets, you can build and seed them this fall.
Then you can build the terraces next spring or the following fall.

For more information on terracing, see your county farm adviser or your local soil conservation district supervisor. You can build terraces with either a plow or a motor grader, but you'll probably need some technical assistance.

Too many permanent pastures are grazed too long without renovation.

Reforestation in County Increases

Records of tree orders from the state nurseries reveal that tree planting in Saline county increased this spring over recent years. James Menzie, Farm Forester, reports that six landowners ordered a total of 35,000 trees—enough for 35 acres.

Spot checks of plantations established this spring indicate very good survival. Only seven thousand trees were planted last year.
The bulk of trees ordered this spring were planted on Sahara Coal Co. land.

Menzie states that a total of 230,000 trees were planted in the twelve counties of District II this spring, a decrease of four thousand from last year. Marion county for the second consecutive year, led the district in orders with 26 landowners ordering 63,000 trees.

Tree seedlings are raised at two state nurseries and sold at cost to landowners wishing to plant trees to establish a new forest, control erosion, to establish a field shel-terbelt, or for Christmas trees. A record ten million plants were distributed in Illinois this spring. Anyone interested in this program or in receiving tree planting advice is urged to contact his forester or county agricultural office. Menzie reveals that a tree planting machine will be available on a loan basis to anyone planting sizable acreage next year.

Feed Dollars Are In The Leaves

URBANA—A poor job of hay-making may leave the feeding value of 25 bushels of corn in the field for every acre of alfalfa hay you put up.

Leo R. Fryman, extension dairyman at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that's the result of leaving half of the leaves behind when you put up hay.

Most of the feeding value of hay is in the leaves, Fryman says.
Save the leaves and bring your hay fields to the highest capacity of production.

Start cutting your legume hay crop when the blooms reach the 1-10 stage. Leaves start dropping soon after the plants reach this stage of growth.

It will also pay to check long-range weather forecasts. When the weather is threatening, cut no more hay than you can quickly cure and store. Also, don't let the forage get too dry before you bale it or chop it.

One way to beat the weather is to use a crusher to help cure hay faster. Or you can use a barn

Foundation Sets 4-H Fund Goal

URBANA — The Illinois 4-H Foundation has established a 1955 fund-raising goal of $5,250 to assist in carrying out an expanding 4-H Club program in the state this year.

Of this amount, $3,600 will be used to help implement the International Farm Youth Exchange program, under which five Illinois young men and women will be given an opportunity to work and study in foreign countries. The remaining money will be used to carry out existing 4-H programs, special attention being given to training and recognition of 4-H adult leaders. Each year more than 5,000 men and women serve voluntarily, without pay, as leaders of agricultural and home economics 4-H clubs.

While a specific fund-raising goal has been established, the Foundation's Executive Committee anticipates that grants, donations and contributions during the year will greatly exceed the established goal.

W. G. Kammlade pointed out that the Foundation was established a little more than a year ago at the suggestion of a number of the state's leading civic and agricultural business leaders. These men and women, and the groups they represent, urged the University of Illinois College of Agriculture to establish some kind of organization through which anyone who was interested in helping the 4-H club program could make regular and systematic contributions. Kammlade is associate director of the Illinois Agricultural Extension Service and chairman of the Foundation's board of directors.

"Our main objective this year," Kammlade said, "is to let everyone in Illinois know that there is such a Foundation and that it is incorporated under Illinois laws to receive grants and gifts of money or property to be used in furthering the 4-H club program."

"The decision to establish a specific fund-raising goal this year was based largely upon the need for additional financial assistance to carry on programs that have proved so worth while in the past."

Members of the Foundation's board of directors, in addition to Kammlade as chairman, include:
Mrs. Kathryn V. Burns, state leader of home economics extension, University of Illinois; E. D. Griffin, vice president, Allied Mills; Mrs.
Richard Herm, homemaker; Mrs.

nois Home Bureau Federation; M.

charge of Agricultural 4-H club work, University of Illinois; Miss economics 4-H club work, Unipany, Division of Commonwealth

WED AT ENFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. Rex Parker Brown are shown cutting their wedding cake following their marriage at Enfield on June 16.

Elliott Brown Marriage Solemnized At Enfield June 16

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Elliott, Enfield, of the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Joan, and Rex Parker Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Brown, Fort Dodge, Iowa. The double ring candlelight service was performed at 7:30 p. m. June 16, at the Presbyterian church in Enfield, the altar of which was adorned with pink candles in standard candelabra, ivy and baskets of white stock.

Organ selections from Bach, Handel and Brahms, played by Mrs. LeDorin Becker, Carmi, preceded the ceremony, before which Mrs. Dorothy Newcomb, Carmi, sang "At Dawning" and "Ich Liebe Dich."

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kermit Prince, in the presence of 200 guests.

Attending the bridal couple were Marjorie Anderson, Chicago, Miss Lorraine Muir, Blue Island, Ernest Notting, Forest City, Iowa, and Fuhrer D. Dickey, Fairfield, Robert McCurdy and Robert Niccum, Enfield.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a white nylon tulle wedding gown. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline which was trimmed with pearlized sequins and pearls. The voluminous skirt was four-tiered. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a pearl embroidered band and she carried a bridal bouquet of pink valley lilies, stephanotis and ivy centered with a white orchid.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Double Play: Durocher to Cardinals, Rigney to Giants

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Leo Durocher is friendly with August A. Busch, Jr., who is as dissatisfied with the St. Louis club as Stoneham is with the shocking decline in New York.

Busch seeks an established major league manager, was vastly impressed with Durocher's manipulating and World Series performance last season. Gussie goes for The Lip's flamboyancy and Hollywood touch. Sometime back it was reported that Durocher was to land an agency for the beer brewed by the Red Birds' owner.

When Harry Walker succeeded Eddie Stanky as the Cardinals' pilot not long ago, nothing was said about Dixie's kid brother being anything more than a stop-gap.

It would not be surprising to see Durocher resign his post at the Polo Grounds. That would give everybody an out and enable The Lip to negotiate with Busch.

Durocher has a rich St. Louis background, formerly resided there and it was at Sportsman's Park, now Busch Stadium, that he played his finest shortstop for the celebrated Gas House Gang of 1934.

Concern about a long hard summer at the Polo Grounds prompted Stoneham to move. The Giants have drawn 480,000 to date, but far in the ruck and flirting with the second division, two remaining series—six games—with the Dodgers is about all the front office has to look forward to in the way of Harlem turnstile spin. Once again Brooklyn fans have to come to the rescue of the Giants.

Durocher's trouble in a great measure stems from the fact that he treats baseball as though it were a part-time job. As the result of their smashing success in 1954, too many of the Giants have too many outside interests. Durocher is seen on television and subway advertise-

Bill Rigney, bespectacled former shortstop who has the New York club's Minneapolis farm club out in front in the American Association, is expected to be named the Giants' new manager any day now. It was more than the exhibition game between the Giants and Millers that took Horace C. Stoneham to Minneapolis.

Accepted and duly passed on a roll call vote by the affirmative vote of at least Four (4) members of the Council of said City of Harrisburg, on this 21st day of June, 1955.

Braves Utilize Homers to Beat Dodgers, 8-2; Giants Top Cards, 1-0, on Home Run

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

It may be like trying to bring down a jet bomber with a bean bag, but the Milwaukee Braves suddenly saw a faint hope today of stopping the high-flying Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Braves beat the Dodgers—at their own game Friday night, utilizing big home run blasts, and strong pitching for an 8-2 triumph that cut Brooklyn's first place lead to 13 games. Lew Burdette scattered nine hits to gain his fifth victory and the Braves strategists saw hopeful signs in the fact that it was their fourth straight route-going job by a starter.

The homers were by Ed Mathews, Del Crandall and Hank Aaron. All came off Carl Erskine, who suffered his fourth defeat against eight wins.

Two Games Ahead

The pace-setting Yankees stayed two games ahead of Chicago in the American league when they defeated the Indians, 2-1, in 10 innings on Irv Noren's homer while the White Sox edged Boston, 3-2, on a run driven in on Nellie Fox's bloop single in the seventh. The Athletics topped the Orioles, 2-0, on a collaboration shutout in which Tom Gorman finished up for Arnold Portocarrero when his arm began to bother him again. Detroit shook up the nation's capital with an 18-7 triumph over Washington that included a six-run rally in the third, five runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

In the other National league games, the Redlegs beat the Phils 6-0 on Joe Nuxhall's second shutout in a row, a four-hitter, after Philly won the opener, 8-6, in a hit-fest. The Giants topped the Cardinals 1-0 on Ruben Gomez's sixth shutout and Whitey Lockman's homer and Chicago pounded out a 10-3 triumph over the Pirates that included Ernie Banks' 15th homer.

The Indians left 15 men on base

Mickey Wright Leads Way Into Women's Finals

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A virtually unknown golfer led the way into the final 36 holes of the 26th annual women's Western Open today.

Mickey Wright, a slender blonde from La Jolla, Calif., who has won only one tournament in five years, earned medalist honors with a 36-hole total of 145, one under par.

All players in the field of 69 who shot 166 or better qualified for the championship flight of 36 which will play 18 holes today and a final 18 Sunday for the title.

None of the name players failed to qualify but all trailed Mickey Wright, whose only championship was the National Junior two years ago, and amateur Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., who posted two 73's for an even par 146 and second place.

Patty Berg, a four-time open winner from Chicago, and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, were tied at 148. Beverly Hanson, Fargo, N. D., was fifth at 149 and Betty Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., the 1952 champion, sixth at 150.

Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., another four-time titleholder, and Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., defending champion, each had 152.

First inaugural address of a president of the United States was delivered at old City Hall, New York City.

Leo Durocher

ments every time you turn around. When the Giants are home, Durocher is at the park early enough, but sits at his desk and holds court for Hollywood friends. He doesn't bother to go on the field until shortly before game time. He doesn't watch the opposition's batting practice or that of his own players. Other managers watch for a new-comer's faults, etc.

After a game, Durocher dresses quickly, makes a couple of telephone calls—and disappears. He talks with baseball writers, but gets it over quickly. It's the same story on the road. Once gone, no one associated with baseball sees Durocher until the next day.

Not once during the entire training season in Phoenix did the man who should have been most concerned show up at press headquarters, which was filled by big league officials and scouts. Instead, Leo's version of fraternizing with people with whom he makes a living was pitching a fantastic party at his Beverly Hills home. The prime purpose of the shindig was to show the Giants off to Hollywood pals.

Casey Stengel's telephone number and that of Walter Alston and every other major league manager are in the books of baseball writers. It would be easy to get Durocher's—but it strikes you as a number not to use. Working hours for him, you see, seem to be strictly the length of a ball game.

The club standings clearly show the bitter disappointment of Owner Stoneham, a true fan. The sparkling club of last fall went completely to pot.

Rankling Stoneham particularly was Durocher calling Sal Maglie lazy when that faithful right-hander excusably failed to cover first base on a ball that was headed for the outfield until it struck an umpire.

Durocher, whose two-year contract expires this season, could have used much more tact in resting Willie Mays, and it was when he saw the most valuable player of 1954 humiliated in the dugout that Horace Stoneham decided it was time for a change.

Mays seemed destined to restore the Giants' prestige, lift them from last in New York to first.

Now if Willie Mays brings this about, he will do it without the genius of Leo Durocher.

MOORE HOLDS TITLE—Middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson hits the deck at 1:19 of the third round at the Polo Grounds in his bid for light heavyweight champ Archie Moore's title. Moore and referee Rudy Goldstein stand over the knocked-out Olson. (NEA Telephoto)

The circus brings excitement for young and old alike—the animals, the thrilling acts, the funny clowns. Perhaps we like the clowns best of all with their antics and their grinning faces.

But the jolly face of a clown is not necessarily what it seems to be. A mask of humor might very well conceal a sad heart, and the jester could easily be living in a world of self-doubt.

Many people know this dilemma. To the world they show a countenance of false gaiety, but within there is disquiet. Why? It may be that these people have found no basis for genuine peace and contentment. And no amount of banter or pretense can heal a bruised spirit.

A basic faith is essential to the soul of every individual. To attain this faith turn to the Church, which for countless generations has given new life and hope to millions. Then, with a heart full of love and confidence, know the joy of genuine, heartfelt laughter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) Which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'God and The Nations'

Zephaniah 3:15; 14:20
GOLDEN TEXT: "O let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for thou shalt judge the people righteously and govern the nations upon earth." — (Psalms 67:4)

INTRODUCTION: Nations are judged by God the same as individuals. America needs to remember that. All of us know that we cannot, as individuals, continue in sinful practices without suffering the consequence. So it is with any nation.

The scripture teaches us that Israel's history, and God's dealings with her, are recorded that all nations might be taught that God deals with nations. Remember, "God is not mocked." "He is long suffering." He is patient, but the day will come when our nation shall pay for her sins.

What we need is a nation-wide spiritual revival. Every century has experienced at least one great season of spiritual revival, except this one. Let us pray that we shall soon have a great spiritual revival in America.

THE ROAD TO FAILURE (V. 1-4)
Look at these verses. "Woe to her that is rebellious and polluted. She obeyed not the voice; she received not correction; she trusted not in Jehovah." My! what a tragic condition Jerusalem was in. She was condemned and knew it not.

Notice that she was disobedient to start with. Is this not always the case? It is true of individuals. It is true of nations. When the Lord administered the rod of chastisement she rebelled instead of letting it be a lesson to her.

"She trusted not in Jehovah." This was worse than all. It is God alone who can bless a nation, and His blessings come only as we trust in Him. Israel was headed for failure and destruction.

History has repeated itself many times. History can repeat the same story in America. Oh! America, why will you not turn to God in repentance while there is yet time?

II. GOD IN HER MIDST (V. 5)

"Jehovah in the midst of her is righteous; He will not do iniquity; every morning doth He bring His justice to light, He faileth not, but the unjust knoweth no shame."

Here the prophet is saying that God is righteous and true and just for every age. He also indicates that this was especially terrifying for Jerusalem, because "He was in the midst of her." What about our nation? God has never blessed any nation more than ours. He is in our midst. He has given us light. Down the road somewhere we must run head-on into His justice.

III. FUTURE BLESSING FOR ISRAEL (V. 14-20)

The day will come when Israel will yet enjoy great blessings from God. She has been suffering persecution at the hands of many nations for many years. In fact, she has been "scattered to the four corners of the earth." However, she will be gathered together again.

Friend, have you not noticed this prophecy taking place within the past few years. Israel was granted the statehood a few years ago for the first time in hundreds of years. Today the Jews from all over the world are pouring money into that small nation. They are going back there to live by the thousands every year. History is being made and prophecy fulfilled before our very eyes. Jesus will come again one of these days. Are you watching for Him? Are you listening for that shout from the skies?

CONCLUSION — Nations and individuals that sin and disobey God must suffer the consequence. God is in our midst. We are to repent. We are to sing His praises daily. We are to enjoy His wonderful blessings one day as His redeemed people!
